Leasing activity continues to grow as tenants opt to renew instead of relocate

Note: Arrows indicate change from previous quarter.

Market Overview

- Highest leasing volume since Q4 2024 at 2.7 msf. Renewals accounted for 1.7 msf of the total volume.
- Tenant demand for office and R&D space ended Q2 2026 at 9.3 million square feet (msf) which is an increase from the 8.6 msf posted at the end of Q1 2026. Technology, hardware, software, AI and AI ecosystem comprised 50.5% of total demand for office and R&D space at the end of Q2 2026.
- Net absorption for the Silicon Valley office market recorded its seventh consecutive quarter of occupancy gains at 14,880 square feet (sq. ft.) in Q2 2026.
- The vacancy decreased from 15.4% to 15.2% quarter-over-quarter (QoQ). The availability rate increased from 17.4% to 17.5%.
- The average direct asking rate in Silicon Valley ended Q2 2026 at $5.27 on a monthly, direct Full-Service Gross (FSG) basis. This is a decrease of $0.04 QoQ, primarily due to higher priced product being leased.
- There were no construction deliveries during Q2 2026 with one project under construction in Santa Clara.

Vacancy

In Q2 2026, overall vacancy continued to diverge by property class. Class B posted the highest overall vacancy at 19.7%, easing by 20 basis QoQ and 20 basis points YoY. Class A vacancy was 14.1%, unchanged QoQ, down 290 basis points YoY. Class C held the lowest overall vacancy at 7.1%, declining by 60 basis points QoQ, 80 basis points YoY and 270 basis points versus Q2 2023. This is the seventh consecutive quarter of vacancy decreasing or remaining unchanged.

Vacancy is lowest in Cupertino, where the overall rate is 2.4%. The second lowest vacancy is in San Jose – IBP/Milpitas at 6.0%. At the other end of the spectrum, CBD recorded the highest vacancy at 32.9%, with 3.2 million sq. ft. of direct space sitting empty.

Net Absorption

Total net absorption in Q2 2026 was 15,000 sq. ft., indicating a narrowly positive quarter for the market. This total was below the 770,000 sq. ft. absorbed in Q1 2026 and below the 1.2 million sq. ft. recorded YoY. Class B space contributed 60,000 sq. ft. of positive net absorption, partially offsetting negative 17,000 sq. ft. in Class A and negative 28,000 sq. ft. in Class C.

At the submarket level, Santa Clara and Mountain View/Los Altos posted the highest positive net absorption in Q2 2026, at 82,000 sq. ft. and 70,000 sq. ft., respectively. Sunnyvale and West Valley were the next strongest positive submarkets, with 68,000 sq. ft. and 18,000 sq. ft. of net absorption. Contrarily, San Jose - North and the CBD recorded the largest net givebacks, at negative 95,000 sq. ft. and negative 75,000 sq. ft., respectively, together accounting for much of the space returned to the market. San Jose – North saw this decrease due to multiple floors at 6201 America Center becoming vacant. Despite net absorption decreasing QoQ, the market remains healthy with an increase in leasing activity primarily due to renewals.

Leasing Activity

Combined Class A and Class B leasing in Q2 2026 totaled 2.7 million sq. ft., bringing year-to-date 2026 volume to 5.0 million sq. ft. Overall leasing increased 15.7% QoQ, driven by a 9.8% rise in Class A activity and a 39.5% gain in Class B. Q2 leasing was 4.6% higher YoY than Q2 2025, with Class A up 12.2% and Class B down 10.6%, leaving Class A responsible for roughly three-quarters of current volume at roughly 74.3%. Renewals accounted for 62.9% of total leasing volume with 1.7 msf leased. Class A product represented 82.4% of the renewal volume, indicating that tenants in highly amenitized space are choosing to stay in place rather than relocate.

At the submarket level, Santa Clara and Palo Alto recorded the highest leasing volumes in Q2 2026, at 1.6 million sq. ft. and 282,000 sq. ft., respectively, with Santa Clara heavily concentrated in Class A space. Santa Clara was bolstered by a 940k renewal by Palo Alto Networks. Remaining submarkets with positive activity included Mountain View/Los Altos, San Jose - North, West Valley, the CBD, Sunnyvale, Cupertino, Fremont/Newark, San Jose – Central, San Jose - IBP/Milpitas, and San Jose - South, where leased volumes ranged from 9,000 sq. ft. to 203,000 sq. ft. Continuing the sentiment from Q1 2026, software and artificial intelligence companies accounted for 55.6% of total leasing volume at 1.5 msf.

Market Area Overview

Definitions

Average Asking Rate Direct Monthly Lease Rates,, Full-Service Gross (FSG). Availability All existing space being marketed for lease. Total Vacancy Rate Direct Vacancy + Sublease Vacancy.
CBRE’s market report analyzes existing single- and multi-tenant Office buildings that total 10,000+ sq. ft. within defined submarkets, including owner-occupied buildings. CBRE assembles all information through telephone canvassing, third-party vendors, and listings received from owners, tenants and members of the commercial real estate brokerage community.
During the first quarter of 2025, a revision to our calculation methodologies was implemented, leading to a significant shift in our results on a quarter-over-quarter basis. This updated approach will be utilized for all future periods, providing a consistent and transparent framework for calculating asking rates going forward.
A building reclassification project occurred in Q1 2025, which caused a shift in Net Rentable Area among classes. Effective 2025, our reporting methodology will be updated to include owner/user deliveries in the calculation of gross absorption, providing a more comprehensive and accurate representation of market activity.
